

QUALITATIVE RESEARCH TRAINING COURSES

Interpreting and Writing up your Qualitative Findings
27 April 2010 in Edinburgh

This more advanced course takes analysis to higher levels and is designed for those who are interested in making sense of and writing up their qualitative research. It assumes that participants are already familiar with the principles and practice of data management, or have attended the introductory analysis course. Focusing on developing explanations and writing up and presenting qualitative research findings, the course covers:

- explanation in qualitative research
- drawing conclusions
- issues of validity and reliability
- the challenge of qualitative reporting
- displaying qualitative evidence
- reviewing examples of qualitative writing

The day will be lead by Liz Spencer. Liz is an independent research consultant with more than thirty years' experience of qualitative research. She has held research posts at London School of Economics, The London Graduate School of Business Studies, the Universities of Kent and Essex, and was a Research Director in the Qualitative Unit at the National Centre for Social Research, where, together with Jane Ritchie, she developed and pioneered 'Framework', a matrix base approach to qualitative data analysis. . She delivers training for a range of organisations, and teaches short courses at the Universities of Hong Kong and Essex. She has recently been appointed an academician of the Academy of Social Sciences.

In 2006 Liz founded Q²Training Complete with her colleague, Pamela Campanelli. Both Liz and Pamela are dedicated to providing research training that is lively and engaging, communicating concepts in a straightforward and accessible way and providing workshops to put theory into practice.

The cost to attend is £185 for SRA members and £260 for non-members.
